

Fig. 3

Fig. 4

Fig. 5

Fig. 7

Fig. 8

Fig. 9

Specimen page of textual information containing links

More news

This is an example of a long item of text which fills up all of the display screen of a mobile telephone handset and which cannot all be displayed at once. The item of text contains so many words that it would not be possible to fit it all within the limited display screen size usually found on a mobile telephone handset.

Some items such as news items, require a significant number of words to describe the details of the story that is being conveyed to the reader.

The item may include links to other pages, such as a link to a page with information relating to "sports", the link being provided below.

Sports Another link

The link may be located in the text at a particular point dependent upon the context, or at the beginning or the end.

The item may also include graphics and other items such as tables.

Some more text is hereby provided after which some more links are shown. When browsing the page, the user cannot tell whether there are links in the text or whether there are more links at the end, unless the entire page is viewed.

homepage markets

5

Fig. 10

1. More news
2. sports
3. homepage
4. markets

Select Back

5